Art Unit: 1623

Claims 1-4, 6-18, 22, 51-54 and 56-65 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The term "acid" is not disclosed or suggested by the specification as originally filed. Note that the disclosure of "citric acid" does not provide support for the term "acid" in general.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-65 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over "Zithromax", 70-5191-00-8 (PFIZER LABS, Division of Pfizer Inc., NY, NY 10017 (October 2003)) in combination with Singer et al (U.S. Patent No. 6,365,574).

"Zithromax" discloses a method for producing a composition suitable for intravenous injection comprising azithromycin in lyophilized form in combination with citric acid and sodium hydroxide but does disclose the addition of ethanol. However, since a composition of ethanolate of azithromycin was well known in the art at the time the present invention was made as disclosed by Singer et al (see, for example, column 3, lines 1-36), a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the present invention was made would have been motivated to prepare the composition disclosed by Singer et al in the form of Zithromax in order to make it suitable for intravenous injection.
